

In-World Timeline of Kon'reh Lore

Dating Schema

- FIRM Exact year attested in-text or by cross-checked colophon.
- PROB Probable range inferred tightly from adjacent dated events.
- APPROX Approximate (circa) decade/century estimate.

SOMETIME IN THE PAST

Intentionally undated; known only to predate a later copy or mention.

Known & Measured History

- FIRM 223 AR — Testimony of Legate Varro Pellanus. Earliest narrative of a high-stakes, cross-cultural match under Ykrul duress.
- FIRM 538 AR — Aqyl of Thepyrgos compiles the Corpus Canré.
- FIRM 553 AR — Edict of Colonia Victrix bans the Corpus; formal study fractures.
- FIRM 804 AR — Safiya al-Fhara, Diwān of Roads and Boards surveys living traditions post-ban.
- FIRM 856 AR — Braedon Fenwood, Concordance compiled (editorial drive toward a “cleaner book”).
- FIRM 862 AR — Kon'reh: Rules & Core Lore Compendium published; “the book is done.”
- FIRM 876 AR — Markus Fenwood enrolls at the University of Thepyrgos; studies under Aqyl, son of Aqyl.
- FIRM 889 AR — Letter from Alayse Fenwood (explicitly dated “Alayse, 889 AR”).

Ambiguous & Purposeful Mystery

- SOMETIME IN THE PAST The Burning at Ash-Fenn. Eyewitness account later copied (648 AR) describes the Witness bringing a trembling leaf to “Aqyl, much aged,” with “his son—also Aqyl” present. The event predates the 648 copy; the year is deliberately withheld.

- PROB The Aqyl Lineage. “Aqyl, son of Aqyl” may be a direct descendant of the 538 compiler, a transmitted title within a learned line, or a literary choice emphasizing continuity; the texts preserve the ambiguity on purpose.
- PROB The Witness & The Ninth. Practices (e.g., Salt Stitch, Veil of Names) are recorded with consequences (the Ash–Fenn dossier) while ontology remains unresolved; puzzles alter what readers notice, not tournament legality.

Style Notes (for future entries)

- Order: Year first; bold the key noun; then a one-line gloss.
- Provenance clause: After an em-dash, state where the date comes from (e.g., “dated leaf,” “editorial colophon,” “copied in 648 AR”).
- Ranges: Use “c. 630–650 AR” for APPROX; use “by 648 AR” when anchored only by a later copy (SOMETIME IN THE PAST).
- Ambiguity verbs: Prefer appears, is attested, is copied, is attributed over definitive is/was when evidence is indirect.
- Do not upgrade uncertainty: If a page does not date it, resist back-solving unless two independent anchors agree.
